Pause Fest brings together people from all over the world, to Australia's digital industries to discuss the future in design, business and technology.

The festival has attracted a powerful mix of industry professionals, startups and early adopters from a broad range of digital disciplines. The event presents an unparalleled opportunity for people to connect, collaborate and launch creative digital projects alongside global leaders and visionary brands.

Focussing on "making ideas happen". Presentations and panels discussed the importance of fostering creativity and innovation, and how tech and creative could work together.

Who WIll Attend?

Australian startup scene was just beginning to really take off, and it has since attracted that particular niche of people that are driven by passion and purpose. Next wave of visionaries where they don't ask what's next, but figure out how, and decide when.

In 2016, Pause Fest had around 15,000 attendees from all over Australia and the world.
In-person attendees were fairly balanced number of female and male.
More female speakers
The audience appeared more senior level (Directors, Creative Leads, etc.)

Over 20 satellite events.

Cost: $350 to $1050

Accessible Student Pricing: $99 to $175
Free coffee all day

DESIGN PROBLEM
CHALLENGE

“People are still confused about what we do and why we do it, but innovation is confusing, it’s not pretty and you don’t know what the outcome will be but something amazing and magical always happens at the end,”

– founder George Hedon

Potential Solution

Australia's digital scene is still young compared to elsewhere.

Embracing 'innovation is confusing' with experimenting with unconventional edits, collage of video, and 3D elements. An interplay with evolution of exploration from adolescence to adulthood, tools, toys, and – even as adults, how playing teaches. Growing in complexity over time would be a strong visual metaphor for growth of popularity Pause fest, Australia's digital scene, and innovation that's fostered at this event.
